Concept Note:

In "The Future We Want," the Outcome document of the United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development (Rio +20), Heads of State and Governments and high representatives recognized that "although progress on gender equality has been made in some areas, the potential of women to engage in, contribute to and benefit from sustainable development as leaders, participants and agents of change has not been fully realized owing to, inter alia, persistent social, economic, and political inequalities." Leaders also reaffirmed their "commitments to ensure women's equal rights, access and opportunities for participation and leadership in the economy, society and political decision making."

Achieving gender equality and the empowerment of women is essential for effective action on all aspects of sustainable development in the Indian context. Urgent action is needed to empower women and girls, ensuring that they have equal opportunities to benefit from development and remove the barriers that prevent them from being full participants in all spheres of society.
